"CUPID'S VICTORY"
Two Reel Century Starring WANDA WILEY,
Charles Lamont Director.

Wanda is a toiling office girl with a penchant for trouble. She leans on a sponge which squirts water on the next bookkeeper, gets black ants down her back and relieves her feelings by doing the shimmy with the office force, chases a frog around with a fire axe, breaking the water bottle and the bookkeeper's head, but not harming the frog.

She tries to win the love of a Romeo by inviting all her suitors to the house at once to make him jealous. Disguised as a girl, he lures them to the open window, one by one, and throws them out; then makes her mad with jealousy by flashing a group of show girls who seem to love him. She tries leaping off a building and other methods of suicide but is miraculously saved. Finally she blindfolds herself and drives a car at a racing speed through the street. She collides with his car. There is an explosion and they are blown to a fourth story balcony where all is forgiven and they embrace.
